Re: Hall-Mills Case.

Gentlemen:

I am anxious to have the appropriate court records in New Brunswick consulted with reference to the Hall-Mills case to ascertain whether Mary Bisleiter or Mary Leitner or Mary Kesserling (also Kesselring) instituted a libel suit against a newspaper called the Hoboken Evening News, now out of existence. The action is believed to have been brought some time between 1895 and 1900 when the plaintiff is thought to have resided in Hoboken.

May I ask if your office could take care of this matter and if any record is filed whether a detailed statement could be taken of the contents of the papers, particularly the names and addresses of persons and the grounds on which the libel suit was based.

Very truly yours,
